My dear Parishioners,

How quickly the weeks fly by! Already it's May, the month in which the air warms, the earth springs into bloom and we start thinking about planting gardens, family picnics and making vacation plans. For us Catholics, it is the Month of Mary.

On Thursday, May 16th, I invite you, especially those with children/grandchildren in our PREP program to join us in a Marian procession and crowning of our Blessed Mother. The children will be asked to bring flowers in her honour and our Legion of Mary will be leading the rosary and procession. Come to Good Shepherd Church on May 16th, 6:15pm to participate in this devotion.

Here are some other upcoming dates to note:

- Mass on Tuesday, May 7th at 6:30pm in Good Shepherd Church for the installation of the new CWL Executive leadership team—all are invited to attend this special Mass
- I am away on Priest's Retreat during the week of May 13-17. Fr. Francis will be here for Mass and Confessions.
- Baptism class for parents preparing to have their child(ren) baptized is on Saturday, May 18th, 10am, Good Shepherd Church. Next baptism class won't be for another 3 months, so please sign up for this class if you are planning for a Spring or Summer baptism.
- Psalm98 Music Ministry will be back at Good Shepherd Church to lead our Youth (in Grades 7, 8, 9) in a Retreat on Sunday, May 19th, 5pm.

Finally, I want to extend my heartfelt thanks once again to all those who helped put together the beautiful celebration we had last Sunday, when Archbishop Michael was here in Good Shepherd Church to help us celebrate 100 years of Star of the Sea Parish. What a beautiful day it was! I especially mention members of the CWL, Knights, my office staff who organized the event, and all those who worked hard setting up and cleaning up. It was truly a great day for our parish.

To all those who attended, I hope you can all see how this parish has grown through the grace of God— how God has moved in this community in the last 100 years, in spite of difficulties and obstacles (some of which we created on our own through in-fighting and short-sightedness), in spite of all this opposition, all the ways we went astray....God's merciful Love is greater than all of that! Remember last week's Gospel—Jesus says, "I am the vine, you are the branches. He who abides in me, and I in him, he it is that bears much fruit, for apart from me you can do nothing." The good fruits that this parish community has borne over the last 100 years is God Himself working in us and through

*Our Lady,
Star of the Sea,
Pray for us!*

us—it is Him bearing fruit in us—for His own purposes. And HE HAS NO EQUAL! Let us draw strength and confidence from this truth.

Archbishop Michael gave such a beautiful homily—and I want to share it here. Not only for those who missed it, but for everyone because his words warrant a deeper reflection:

TRANSCRIPT OF HOMILY OF ARCHBISHOP J. MICHAEL MILLER, CSB AT THE CENTENARY MASS
AT GOOD SHEPHERD CHURCH ON APRIL 28, 2024

Dear Father Augustine, joined by Father Galvon, former Pastor, beloved, as is Father Augustine, Deacon Raul, brothers and sisters in Christ, all of whom are together this morning celebrating the joyous occasion marking the Centenary of Star of the Sea Parish.

By contemporary standards, at least in Canada, a 100 years is a relatively long time. In the Church, however, whose history goes back nearly 2000 years since the death and resurrection of Jesus, and the outpouring of the Holy Spirit on Pentecost, 100 years is quite short. And certainly, for our Indigenous brothers and sisters, a century is but a passing moment in time.

Nevertheless, as we commemorate the 100th anniversary when the first church erected to honor Mary, Star of the Sea, was dedicated by then Archbishop Timothy Casey on the 4th of May 1924, we rightly look to our past with enormous gratitude.

God is truly great and has done marvelous deeds over the long history in this parish for you and with you. For this we give him thanks and praise.

From its very humble beginnings of a few Catholic families who wanted, and indeed built, the first church in White Rock, and subsequently, over the years, other churches – this beautiful one – an extraordinary Catholic school, this parish has grown into a large and a vibrant community of faith. Indeed, what has taken place here in South Surrey recalls what happened in the Church after Pentecost.

What we heard in today's First Reading from the Book of Acts can be applied, at least by analogy, to the history of Star of the Sea Parish. Acts records the church throughout Judea, Galilee and Samaria (and South Surrey) had peace and was built up. Living in the fear of the Lord and the comfort of the Holy Spirit, it increased in numbers.

Recalling your parish's history with thanksgiving is essential for preserving your strong identity as a place of Christ's presence, especially in the Eucharist, and for strengthening your unity as a family united in worship, community, and outreach to others.

More than an exercise in nostalgia, although it is a bit of that, celebrating a centenary looks to following in the footsteps of past generations in order to continue to implement the mission, the vision and the values which inspired them, all of which, of course, were founded in the Gospel. Down through the years, you, this parish, have done this relentlessly despite not insignificant challenges that you have also had to confront as a parish, as every family does.

In particular, today we give thanks to the good Lord for this precious inheritance of 100 years, when the life-giving power of the Holy Spirit has animated, over the years, the zealous pastors and priests who have served you. And certainly, here I recall especially most recent pastors whom, you know, Father Jim Fagan, Father Stan Galvon, who is with us today, Father Glenn Dion, previous pastor, and of course now Father Augustine Obiwumma. We should also recall the earlier days the committed religious sisters.

But above all, the lay faithful, too numerous to mention, who have dedicated themselves so generously to building up the parish community. They did so, and you continue to do so, as we heard in this morning's Second Reading from Saint John, having done so, not just in word and speech, "but in truth and in action."

Today it's fitting then, that we acknowledge and express our gratitude for the many men and women who have gathered in the various churches that make up this parish to pray and worship, to be fed and nourished by the Lord in the Word of God preached over the years with integrity and conviction.

Let's also acknowledge the faith of those couples who brought their children to be baptized here and later prepared them and strengthened them in their Christian witness by the Sacrament of Confirmation.

Let's also acknowledge those who have pledged their love for one another before God in the Sacrament of Marriage, some of you might be here in the church this morning.

But many more have received God's forgiveness here and in Star of the Sea, and over the years in Holy Cross, been forgiven your sins, and also been healed through the Sacrament of the Sick.

But let's also commend to the Lord all the faithful departed, the faithful departed parishioners of Star of the Sea who have gone before us marked with the sign of faith. Today is an occasion to remember them.

Grateful remembrance of your past heritage should lead you, all of us, to live the present, to live the present with passion. As you listen attentively to what the Holy Spirit is saying to your parish today, I urge you to put into practice ever more fully the plans that God has – that God has – for your community of faith. At the outset, I think a reflection on the stark but freeing truth is necessary.

The Gospel is demanding. It demands that it be lived radically and sincerely. Jesus asks us to practice it, to put his words into real effect in our lives. Your Parish Mission statement – I saw it on the web – commits you to being a community who follows Jesus Christ and invites others to do the same – missionary disciples.

For Star of the Sea Parish to live the present with passion means that its parishioners should stand out as exemplary witnesses in furthering God's plan of drawing all people to himself in unity.

In our increasingly polarized Canadian society where different cultures and people with different ideas often experience difficulty in living alongside one another, and where inequality abounds, you are called to a particular mission – to offer a concrete model of community, which by acknowledging the dignity of every person, makes it possible for everyone to live as truly brothers and sisters loving one another as Jesus himself has commanded us.

And today's Gospel tells us something about what it means for each parishioner to live the present with commitment. During the Last Supper, Jesus tells his disciples, as we heard in the Gospel, "Abide in me," – stay with me, remain with me – "as I abide in you." And to explain to them this beautiful reality, Jesus uses the simple and easily understood image of a vine and its branches.

The expression "abide in me" or "remain with me, in me" describes the kind of intimate relationship that exists between Jesus, who is the true vine, and us, his disciples, as branches on that vine of Jesus.

At all times, the branches depend on the vine, and indeed they form one living organism with it. We are one body in Christ. "Apart from me", he says, "you can do nothing". Nothing. As branches, none of us is self-sufficient. We all depend totally on the vine.

At our baptism, indeed we are grafted – that's when it happens – we are grafted as branches on the vine who is Christ. And he must remain the centre, not just of each person's life, but the centre of parish life.

To abide with Jesus is not just a purely individualistic matter. All the baptized, all of us, are attached to the vine, to Jesus. In him, we belong together within this communion of the parish and the Church, it is he who supports us. "Without me, you can do nothing". At the same time, it necessarily follows that all parishioners are to support one another, especially in times of difficulty and even in times, perhaps especially, in times of disagreement.

All life, all true life, all grace, flows from Jesus to us. And then through us, the little branches on the vine, we bear fruit by letting the sap run through the vine to others. That's what produces good fruit. To be a community that loves Jesus Christ and brings others to him.

The star of the century, the Star of the Sea rather, begins its 2nd century. The good Lord is calling you to embrace your future with hope. The difficulties which the whole Church are facing are all too well known to us:

- Unresolved matters and reconciling the Church and Indigenous Peoples;
- Unresolved matters regarding clerical sexual abuse;
- Decreasing vocations to the priesthood and the consecrated life;
- Growing social isolation;
- Economic problems making it difficult for young families, or young people to establish families;
- The threats posed by moral relativism;
- The increasing attacks on human life and its dignity, both early, from conception, and increasingly now, at its end.

But it is precisely amid these challenges, uncertainties, which we share with many of our contemporaries, that a parish is called to practice the great theological virtue of hope. Hope is the fruit of our faith that Jesus Christ is truly risen from the dead and lives and reigns forever with the Father, as we so frequently pray. He is the one who is guiding this parish. He is the one who is guiding the history of the world. Indeed, he drives that history. And he is the one who never ceases to tell us, "Do not be afraid. And remember I am with you until the close, until the end of the age".

This hope of ours is not based on statistics, or on parish building accomplishments, important as these might be. But our hope is based on the one in whom we place our trust, "The one for whom nothing is impossible", as Gabriel said to Mary at the Annunciation. Who is this? Jesus Christ. The same yesterday, today, and forever. He is the only hope, who does not, cannot disappoint us.

Dear parishioners, have trust that as the future unfolds, God will continue to do what he wants for this parish. We hope, of course, that it is great things, even as the world undergoes significant changes.

Above all, be people of hope. Not because you are naive or foolishly optimistic. But because you know that this parish, like the Church itself, belongs to God. It is not my church or our church. It is his church. And it is his Church, to that Church, that he is promised to be with us until the ages are no more.

And so, I urge you to look confidently, joyfully, to the future, praising Almighty God for what he has brought about in this parish over a century by the outpouring of his unfailing love and mercy.

We now continue our Eucharist, giving thanks. Giving thanks for the gift of Star of the Sea Parish. Giving thanks for the role that it's played in your own personal life. What it is meant to you. What it is meant to your family.

At this time, the celebration, our union with Jesus becomes especially intimate as we celebrate, make present even, his death and resurrection for us and for this community of faith, when he invites us to a Holy Communion with him.

This is ultimately what a parish is. Its people gathered in communion with Jesus Christ, their Lord.

Let us then also now entrust ourselves to the intercession of the Blessed Virgin Mary, whom you love under her ancient title, Star of the Sea, that you will keep this precious parish dedicated to her, ever faithful to her Risen Son, and alive in the Holy Spirit.

AMEN! Fr. Augustine
